

Neurosciences - who we are

Our neurosciences department is made up of a highly skilled multidisciplinary team of consultants, clinical nurse specialists and researchers. We also have strong educational links, and work closely with a group of honorary consultants based at the University of Cambridge.