

Research and development clinical trial data

The number of new studies delivered in the NHS has increased, and the number of patients engaged in research activity has hit an all-time high. Cambridge University Hospitals are one of the top 20 performing acute trusts committed to delivering clinical research to time and target. Visit the NIHR Clinical Research Network performance page to find out more about how Trusts are performing on research.

The most recent quarterly reports (pdf or excel) are available to download below: