The Addenbrooke's Discharge Unit (ADU) on ward J3 is a place for you to stay on your last day in hospital, while we make the final preparations for you to be safely discharged home.

There are comfortable chairs, beds for patients who need them, hot meals and snacks, a television, books, and magazines.

Your doctor will come to the discharge unit to review your care and treatment before you go home. The nursing team will arrange any outstanding medicines that you've been prescribed.

If hospital transport has been arranged, the team will collect you from the discharge unit.
